Particulars Relating to the Death of J.

P. Sparks. This gentleman, it will be recollected, w dected to the Legislature, from Henry county, in 1861, as a Union man, and re-elected last year. We have given one version of the atories affort as to the manner of his death. We have since learned from a gentleman, who was in Pleasureville on the day Sparka was killed, what the facts are, as far as they are known. Ten guerriliae, the same that stopt the first rain probably, went to Sparks' house, up braided him with violating his pledges, that he made to the people of the county in 1851 threatened to hang him, and demanded an oath that he should sland up to what he promised. The interview ended without in ury or any violenes to Sparks. We believe the rebels report that he promised what was demanded. Something good to drink, per hape, helped to mollify them. Next day the rebels came into Pleasureville le some force-fify or s'x;y. Oar laformant heard two or three pistol chots. Soon after he saw Bart Jenkins, the Caplain of the aquad. He rode up to Mr. Kully, a wellknown citizen of ilenry county, with whom he was acquainted, and requested him to go and attend to a man be had shot. He said be thought it was Press Sparks; that Sparks had shot at kim. Mr. Kelly rode immediately to the place where he had heard the shooting Sparks was placed on a blanket and carried to his house Jenkius rode up and expressed his regret t Sparks if he bad hart him much. "But," asid e, "you ought not to have shot at a soldier." 'Your regrets come too late," said Sparks. He was carried to his house, where a gentleman wrote his will at his request. He left half his property to his daughter, and half to his sister and her children. There was much in terest felt as to whether he had shot or not; out no one would ask the queation. In a few minutes after he subscribed to his will, which he did by a friend holding his feeble hand, he expired. Our informant does not believe that Mr. Sparks fired a pistol at ali. There was no proof that he had one with him.

When the rebels came luio the village som of Mr. Sparks' neighbors found him askep. They waked him up and advised him to make his escape, as the rebels would kill him. He MESSER PITEIN, WIARD & Co., Louisville, Ky., Gentlemers—Agreeable to your request, we give you our views Jefferson county, Ky. 127 Be not overmuch righteous, neither make thyself overmuch wise. Why shoulest then destroy th self?—[Solomon.

There is a world of practical wiedom in that old book, and here is an Item of it. Some men are too righteous to get along in the world. Perhaps it would be better if the rest of menkind could see their merit, but the rest of mankind do not see it, will not see it, and they destroy these evermuch righteous persons and these overmuch wise ones who cast their pearla before swine. Better let the world go along its own way Persuade men to do be'ter, if you can; but if they will not, better not get so righteons and so wise your neighbors can't live with you We have a whole party now that is overmuch righteous and overmuch wise. S-m of them are, no doubt, very conscientions, who thick that in propagating their creed by the sword they must be doing God's service. They are so sure they are right that no means to their end can be wrong. All that standa in the way is cvil, "If slavery is not wrong nothing is wrong," says Lincoln. He and his party have a mission against it. It is theirs to extirpate it. They are overmuch righteous and overmuch wisc. If slavery were wrong, It may be none of Mr L'ncolu'a business. The This is a hereey in the eye of the over-sauch of forcing uniformity by the sword. Some of them were anticlavery, perhaps a majority, and there was not, probably, a friend of the alave trade in the body; but they provided that the trade should not be prohibited for about twenty years. They did not allow the Government they made to interfere with alayery. They recognized it where it was in a State by the laws thereof.

They were not eo righteous or so wise that they could not live in a world of ain and fully. Indeed, they were wise enough to see that they might be mistaker. Frankijn said he would s'gu the Constitution. Some parts of it he liked and some he disapproved; but what he liked might prove the worst, and what he disapproved the best parts of the lustrument, He wasn't like the French lady, who said: "Sister Salile, I don't know how it is, but I sever saw anybody that was always right but myself." She was a good specimen of the overmuch righteous and wise. She was a fair type of millions. We have a party now composed of such material. They are for no terms with rebels. It would be wrong to make terms with rebels. People as righteous and wise as they are should not compromise with sincers. We would suggest to them the advice of Solomon: "B: not overmuch righteone, peither make thyself overmuch wise," but they would consider Solomon disloyal, or conservative, which is but another name for rebel these days. Notwithstanding, we believe Solomon was right, and his admonition should urselves, perhaps-not sure. It is worth while, however, and even within be reach of our ability, to point out to the radicals that General Grant is recklessly departing from their plan of the campaign and falling into McClellan's. As his plans have been denounced as treasonable, and have been held up to ridicule, we think a radical remonstrance would be consistent. A slight refer ence to actual facts would be convincing. The Government plan, as set down in Mr. Lincolu's various letters to McClellan, required that the advance should be direct by the re'l line from Washington, driving the enemy pefore us, and an always interposing an army between Lee and Washington. This is what was meant by Gen. Grant's remarkable speech that he intended "to fight it out on this line. if it took all summer." McDowell was not or dered from Fredericksburg because it would expose Washington. We call attention to the fact that Gen. Grant did not fight it out on this line, and drive Lee before him. Instead. he may daround his flank, leaving Washington exposed-leaving the line he had apoken of, and changing his base to the White House, jast where the Copperhead McClellan had been. Soon after that General reached that point he fought a battle, known as "Gainea" Mill," and the radicals do say it was unsuccessful. Some of the same papers now assert that a battle was fought at the same place by Gen. Grant, with not much better luck. Let that be true or false, is it not perfectly appar-

the despised and villand McClellan? Would it not be a good plan, a patrioti plaz, for one of these true bines to take General Grant saide and talk to him upon this cocidence, or would it not be advisable for President Lincoln to write him just such a letter as he did to McClellan, beginning with 'wherein is your plan better than mine," or words to that effect?

ent that Gen. Grant is adopting the plans of

It is a humiliating thing to add that General Grant has very disrespectfully continued to follow up the outlines of McClellau's strategy. After the latter found it impossible to move sefully from the north upon Richmond, of a series of movements ha swung his force around by the flank again, changing his base a second time to the James river. We call attention to the fact that by the dispatches it appears that General Grant la doing the same thing. If: is moving to get to the cast and south of Richmond. It is our painful du'y to adl that by so doing he utterly repudiates the entire plus and policy of the Administration to keep his army in such a position as to cover Washington. He leaves that city and the precious cabinet exposed to the clings and arrows of outrageous fortune. We don't kn may be in this. It is hinted that the capture of our rulers would not be considered a misfortune, and that perhaps even Grant believes Greensburg, Ky., on the 11th day of June, that If they had our President for a while they would commit more blanders. This is, how- Wickliffe and others, to appoint delegates to ever, too dark a enspicion to gain a moment's

It was complained of McCiellan that he saked to: re-enforcements, and the Government allowed him the privilege-of asking. We notice from the reports that Grant, in this respect, does not diff r from his predecessor, as almost every day te'ls how he is fast receiving re-enforcementa.

These are subjects worthy of the tru'y logal. It is no difference that these place may be the best plans, and the concurrence of McClellan and Grant in them proves it. The trouble is the manifest contempt shown for the plans and advice of General Lincoln, late of the Blackbawk war.

The espture of Richmond will hardly be corold red at all expatiatory of the gran' crime of disrespect shown by Grant to his an perior officer in thus adopting and ancceeding by the atrategy of that dialoyal officer, George B. McClellan. A SHADE WORSE THAN THE BLUE LAWS .-

From a Bridgeport (Copr.) paper we learn that a Mr. Jessup Suerwood, of Fairfield, in that State, brought a suit against his wife (a second enemy sowed tares amongst the wheat; the overmost righteous and wise man would have torn them up, but true wind m advised that they be left to grow till harvest, lest, in tearing np the tares, the wheat might be torn up.

On motion, J. W. Davis, J. Q. Deganna and

His Appearance at Hamilton, Butler County, Yesterday—He and Christ Hughes Elected Delegates to the Chicago Convention—His Speech at Hamilton—He Takes the Cars for Dayton.

[From the Cincinnati Commercial, June 16th.]

HAMILTON, Ohlo, June 15.

The Democratic District Couvention, to elect delegates to the Chicago Convention was to have been held in Dayton, some three or four weeks ago, but was postroued for reasons that weeks ago, but was postroued for reasons that is not ally appear. There was a pretty full attendance. It was circulated about that Vallandigham would be here, but nobody credited it. The convention was in seasion and Christ. Highes and Vallandigham had been elected, with alternates. When and deep value of the Federal and State Governments. Whether any such ever existed I do not know; but the charge that organizations of that party in Ohio or the other non-slaveholding States, is totally and positively false. That lawful, political or party association are of the Democratic party and its success in the organizing and strengthening of the Democratic party and its success in the coming Presidential election, and designed as a counter movement to the so-called "Union Longues," and therefore secret in their proceedings, is very probable; and however objectionable hitherto and in ordinary times, I recognize to the fullest extent, not the lawfulness only, but the propriety and necessity of ench organizations—for "when bad men completed with the south, and for the Federal and State Government:

Knights of the Golden Circle, "or some other character, affiliated with the South, and for the Federal and State Governments. Whether any such ever existed I do not know; but the charge that organizations of the Federal and State Governments.

That lawful, political or party associations are the org bine, good men must associate." But they are no conspiracy against the Government; and their members are not conspirators, but patriots; men not leagued together for the overthrow of the Constitution or the laws, or still leas, of Liberty, but firmly nuited for the atill leas, of Liberty, but firmly nuited for the preservation of these great objects. There is, indeed, a "conspiracy," very powerful, very ancient, and I trust that before long I may add, strongly consolidated also, npon sound principles, and destined yet to be "triumphnut"—a conspiracy known as the Democratic party, the present object of which is the overthrow of the Administration in November rext, not by force, but through the ballot-box, by the election of a President who shall be true to his oath, to liberty and the Constitution. This is the sole conspiracy of which I the conspirators. If any other exist, looking to unlawful armed resistance to the Federal of their legsi and constitutional rights, I admonish all persons concerned that the act is also, the men in power that there is a vast

Three years have now passed, men of Ohlo, and the great issue, Constitutional liberty and free popular Government, is still before you; I again commit it, confident that in this, the time of their greatest peril, you will be found worthy of the ancestors who for an many ages in England and Americs, — the field, in prison, and upon the scaffold, defended them against tyrants and usnrpers, whether in conneil or in arms.

Vallandigham said the people might want to know how he got here, but that was a secret known to and confided in himself, which would not be shared with another. He said he was going to Dayton, to live there and die there. The speech was rather guarded for Vallandigham. Having received the congratulations of his friends, he was escorted to the depot by an enthusiastic crowd, the whole convention, in fact, going with him, aimost carrying him to the cars, and shonting themaelves hourse as the train started for Daytou. Charles Derbin, Esq. of Indiana, was also present and made a rabid appeach. A reporter of the Chicago Times was also here, and probably accompanied the distinguished exile from that city.

The mystery is how Vallandigham got here.
He certship did not arrive on the care, and the belief is that he was conveyed most of the way by private conveyance, and entered Ham-liton in a carriage provided by some trusty friend in the secret of his movements. It is intimated that a few of the worthies in Butter county were posted; and that the convention was postponed to this day in order to auit his convenience. Ohers think he was in collusion with John Morgan, who would have met him at or near this point had not General Burbridge interfered with the programme! Val. was not here more than half an hour in all. Some returned soldiers were in the train from Cincinnati, and their appearance with arms on the platform, alarmed the critical his finder. He took the recent exile and his friends. He took the rear car, VALLANDIGHAM'S ARRIVAL IN DATTON.

DATTON, June 15. Vallandigham arrived here at 5:20. A carat the depot, and when the train arrived Vallandigham, accompanied by Daullu, of Indiano, and a reporter of the Chicago Times, as is supposed, entered and drove to Vallandigham's residence. There was no demonatration whatever. Very few if any persons were aware of his coming. There is, however, a feverish apprehension of trouble in the town. Delegates at the convention to-day in flamiliton openly declared that if the authorities attempted to rearrest Mr. Vailandigham, Dayton would be laid in ashes; and one declared a cornfield should be planted on the site. Rumers are at last that he renna hy its site. Rumors are all at that he returns by permission of the President; but Mr. Vallandighm, in Hamilton, explicitly etated that he returned on his own responsibility, and with-out reference to, or the knowledge of, the Government. Ex Mayor Gilleaple, who owns the town, countrms this to-night, that the Government knows nothing concerning it. Vallandigham gives ont that he will speak at Becket Hall te-morrow.

SECOND DISPATCH.

A RUMOR OF RETIREMENT. DATTON, June 15, P. M. Vallandigham has left. A carriage was noted to go to the depot an hour before the departure of the Dayton and Michigan train, in which were three gentlemen, two of whom the train goals are the contract of the carrier tainly not by me alone. But every ordinary means of redress had first been exhansted; yet neither by the direct agency of the Administration and its subordinates, or through its in which were three gentiemen, two of whom stration and its subordinates, or through its induced or intimidations in the civil courts the exile, who is retreating to Canada as fast

THIRD DISPATCH.

DATTON, June 15, 10 P. M. It is doubted whether Vallandigham has left. A crowd of people has been coming and going from his residence all evening, but they were dealed admittance. Half an hour ago, it is said, he appeared on the back stoop and told the crowd he did not wish to be luterrupted to night, that he was much fatigned, and that all would have a chance to see him to morrow. all would have a chance to see him to morrow. It is ascertained that he lett Toledo last night, taking an apartment in the sleeping car, and got oft about five miles this side of flamitton, whence he was conveyed to this place in a carriage in waiting, and secreted till the conventiou was in session. Dayton is very much excited to-night, and all sorts of speculations as to events consequent properties for significant inas to events consequent upon this foreign importation are affect.

Death of Colonel L. M. Keitt, of South Carolina.

Kelt, of South Carolina, who died in this city from a wound received in the battle of Wedneaday, were escorted to the Danville depot yesterday afternoon, and departed en route for the State of his activity. afternoon, and departed en route for the State of his nativity. A portion of the Public Guard and band, with the South Carollua Congressional delegation, accompanied the remains to the depot; the latter officiating as pall-bearers. Colonel Keitt reached Virginia but a few days ago as the commander of the 20th South Carollina regiment, one of the most complete regiments in the service, numbering over 1,200 men. Fresh trom the memorable defense of Charleston, Colonel Keitt was justly proud of his veteran command, and burned to lead them to giory and renown. He led them to both, but fell at the moment of victory, pierced by a bireling bullet through the lungs, dying in the defense of the Confederacy, and pouring out his blood on Virginia soil. Colonel Keitt will be remembered in the old Congress of 1857 and '58 as the colleague of the lamented Preston Brooks. He was brave, taleuted, and chivalrous, and a fit type and model of the Palmetto State.

The losees anstained by many of these establishments were quite heavy, but at this writing no proper estimate can be given of them. The Ill nois State Democratic Coaves ion met at Springaeld yesterday, and nominated a full circ oral ticket, and appointed delegates to the National Convention, which is to assemble in this city on the 4th of July.

A dispatch was here read from the President of the district convention at Hamilton, Onio, of the district convention at Hamilton, Onio, arrival there of Vallaswe have stated that Burbridge, upon arriving at Paris on Saturday, and finding that Morgan had gone to Cynthium, immediately directed his column to that piace. He arrived there at dry-light on Sunday morning, at once attacked Morgan, atterly routing him and scattering his commund, with a considerable loss to him of killed and wounded. He also captured a number of prisoners, nowards of them (some three bundred) passed rapidly through Scott county on Sunday evening and on through Woodlord and Jessamine the next day in the direction of the Kentneky river. They crossed the Frankfort railroad at Payne's depot, eleven miles below the city, about 4 o'clock Sunday evening, and fired the depot building there, but such was their hasted that they did not remain to see it consumed, and the citizens succeeded, after they left, in putting ont tha fire and saving the building with but trifling loss. We have heard of other small equads of Morgan's lorges in this section, and to persons who conversed with them they admitted they had been terribly whipped at Cynthians. Morgan himself is said to have fied in the direction of Bracken county with a portion of his command and the prisoners be had taken, and through Bracken, Nicholos, had taker, and through Bracken, Nicholes, Fiemleg, &c., he will, doubtless, endeavor to make his way out to Virginia by the route he came in, after reaching the mountains of Eastern Kentneky. He is, however, closely pursued, Gen. Burbridge having detailed Col. U. S. Hanson's brigade for the purpose, and it is not impossible he will be overtaken.

VESTERDAY'S NOON DISPATCHES From the Seat of War in Virginia. Grant Still Operating Successfully. Fort Darling Reported Captured. Our Wounded Suffering Terribly. Speculations About General Lee, To Hear Propositions for Substitutes, He will be Forced to Fight or Retreat to Richmond.

Further News from Sheridan's Raid. He Destroys Various Railroads Steele's Command in Arkansas; Little Rock and Pine Bluff Fortified Details of the Bayon Fisk Battle General Magruder's Force Routed The Rebels Repairing New Bridge.

New York, June 16. The World's Washington special says: It has just been learned that a large number of our wounded in the battles of the Wilderness are suffering terribly. Some dave since a few made crutches and hobbied in sixty miles, and reported that a force with ambulances en sent out, but found that the rebeis had been there and taken off about two hundred leaving the worst cases. Some of these died on the way in.

The World's Washington special says the best military critics here tay Lee will be compelled to fight a battle at once or retreat to Richmond. It is not believed here that the deenses sonth can be carried by a coup de main. With the surrounding roads cut, a large army in the city can't exist there; therefore Lee must either fell on Grant with his whole force before he has intronchments, and evacuate or manage the defenses, or fall back to Lynchburg, keep open communication and hang on the flanks of Grant's army.

It is rumqred here that Lee would attempt to crush Hunter and menace Meade; but there are no fears he will expose himself while Grant is in the rear. A hopeful feeling pervades all circles. It is thought Achilica' beel has been received at last and that the relationship. has been reached at last, and that the rebel capital and the main army was in a worse fix than since the withdrawal of McClellan from Harrison's Landing.

Another dispatch to the World says, for

The Tribunc's Washington special says it is understood that Sherldan in his raid destroyed as much as possible the road between Rich-mond and Fredericksburg. He then made a dash on Charlottesville and destroyed the diwould join Averill. Lee's cavelry appeared on Friday, probably in pursuit of Sheridan. They met a party of guerrillas, who fied on seeing them. They captured twenty-two horses and over one thousand head of cattle, which they drove to our lines. Much prevision and forage was also secured. Seventy-one Union priseners were released, sud seventy women and children, who were nearly starved, were rescued. The expedition was absent fourteen days, and marched over two hundred miles. Three small vessels, with various cargoes, were also captured. rious cargoes, were also captured.

NEW YORK, June 16.

The Herald's correspondent with A. J. Smith's corps gives details of the battle at Bayou Fisk, resulting from the pursuit of Magrader, with the object of diverting him from Banks in Mississippi,

The fight was on the 16th, and lasted two hours. Magrader's force numbered 6,000 mounted infantry and cavalry, besides three batteries. The rebels were completely routed, thus opening the Mississippi to navigation for a time. Our forces being infantry, they were unable to pursue, and re-embarked on the 7th for Memphis.

A special to the Herald from Beverly Court house, Va., of the 15.h, sys one of our sur-geons left by Gen. Crook at Cloud's Mountain in charge of wounded has arrived. He left ten days ago, and reports that the rebus ware re-pairing the New river bridge, which he pre-sumes is completed by this sime. This is an important matter in feeding Lee's army. The forces of Col. Harris, commanding the post, are actively pursuing small bands of guerril-las. Hunter is air right. New York, June 16.

The World's special says, passet gers who arrived by Baltimore from Richmond report the rumor current in the city when they left that Grant, by a grand assault, had carried Fort Darling, and captured the entire garrison, sustaining, comparatively, a slight iosa. It was also rumored that our gunboats had, by means of devile, with which the moultors were provided, removed the torpedo s in the river, and were absenting the rebel iron clads.

One of my patients had Syphilitic uners in his threat, which were consaming he points on the polytic and the top of his men. Your Sarasaparilla, sice ally taken, cured him in five weeks. Another, was stacked by secondary sym.toms in his nose, and the ulceration had eaten away a considerable part of it, so that I believe the discriber would noon reach his brain and kill him. But it yielded to my administration of your Sarasaparilla; the ulcers healed, and he is well again, not of course without some disdicaration to his face. A woman who had been treated for the same disorder by mercury was suffering from this pairon in her bouses. They had become so sensitive to the weather that on a damp day are suffered excruciatine pain in her joines and hones. She, too, was cured entirely by your Sarasaparilia in a few weeks. I know from its firmula, which your agent gave me, that this reversely consequently, these truly remarks the results with it have not surprised me.
